Promoters to appeal

City wins stay in manager case

Bay St. Louis' detractors to the injunction sought to force an election on the council-manager form of government was sustained Wednesday morning by Chancellor Frank Alexander and the proponents of the change promptly said they will seek other means of accomplishing their end.

The chancellor ruled that petitioners for the injunction did indeed have an adequate remedy within the law and his court did not have jurisdiction on the matter. He held the bill of complaint did not show they were suffering irreparable harm which is necessary in the equity proceeding.

The Council-Manager Plan of Government Committee could redistribute its petitions and re-submit them to City Commission council, the chancellor suggested.

Arguments on the motion started at 10 a.m. Tuesday with Michael Haas, attorney for the petitioners, and J. Ruble Griffin, city attorney, presenting their positions. At noon it was recessed until 10 a.m. Wednesday and the chancellor entered his order about an hour later.

Griffin argued that it was a political question and could go into Circuit Court for review as to whether the state statutes were being followed. E.J. Marengo, chairman of the council-manager committee, and others sought the injunction on the ground the city improperly disqualified $93 names from a petition they presented last December seeking an election of whether Bay St. Louis should convert to the council-manager form.

Shortly after noon, Marengo issued statement vowing the fight will continue "despite the technical ruling of the Chancellor Court of Hancock County that it did not have the right to hear the matter." He contended this was not a hearing or determination of the merits and no testimony of evidence was heard by the court.

Committee attorneys are considering an appeal and demanding the suit to "more specifically point out that the results of the canvass by the committee disclosed that the municipal poll books which had only recently been recompiled contained the names of approximately 200 dead persons, many of whom had been deceased for many years; approximately 100 duplications of names; and approximately 50 names of persons who were not residents of the city." New board

New Advisory Board on Public Education for Waveland in first session May 8 listened as Chairman Dave Johnson outlines initial action proposals. From left are Dr.

Henry Maggio, secretary; Otto Singleton, Dr. M.L. Dodson, Vernon Ladner, Dave Garcia, Henry Monti and Johnson.

Waveland moves to own school district

The Town of Waveland took another step toward forming its own school district last Wednesday when Mayor Garfield Ladner appointed seven men to an advisory board on public education.

A motion endorsing the appointments was given by Alderman John Longo, Jr., and seconded by Alderman Dominick Sotler, it carried unanimously. Appointees are Dr. M.L. Dodson, Dr. Henry Maggio, Dave Garcia, Otto Singleton, Henry Monti, Vernon Ladner and Dave Johnson. Johnson was later elected chairman of the group and Dr. Maggio secretary.

Johnson's first move was to outline details of a town census planned for this weekend. Covering the entire town, both old and newly annexed area, the census was designed, among other things, to indicate the number of children in each house, and their school grades, in addition to providing an accurate head count.

Johnson said yesterday, the census, then about 90 per cent complete, revealed Waveland could have its own public school covering grades 1 to 12 with an average of 30 children per grade over the next six years without any increase in town population. He stressed that the survey totals did not include those children attending private or parochial schools such as Our Lady of the Gulf, St. Clare's, Christ Episcopal Day School, St. Stanislaus College or St. Rose. The children counted for possible inclusion in a separate school system are those presently going to Waveland, North Bay, Bay High or Valena C. Jones, he said.

He said the next step is to meet with the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and the State Department of Education in Jackson to outline their findings. "After that conversation we will know better where we stand," he said.

At Wednesday's session Johnson hinted at the possibility of the town obtaining a junior college. He said the subject had arisen during initial conversations with HEW officials.

The commission outlined its function as that of an investigative body formed to discover whether or not a separate school system is feasible for the town. It is then to make recommendations to the mayor and council based on its census findings and conferences with various governmental agencies at the state and federal level.

The commission seemed to feel its present tax structure could handle the new school concept and Johnson said that with government assistance the project is feasible.

Dr. Maggio said the only way their children could get ahead will be by having an adequate education. "The only way anyone can get ahead is through education," he declared.

He said that children not possessing adequate education levels cannot match requirements of out of state universities. He indicated that nothing could be done about those children who have already been graduated from the existing school system but that, "...in time to come we can have something available for our children to give them the opportunity to get ahead."

Garcia said those cities that have grown and got ahead regardless of their size are those with a good school system. Potential business and persons looking for suitable homesites first look into what we have to offer as a community, he said. He said their next step is to look at local government, the tax structure, churches, community spirit and schools.

"When they find out we don't have a school of our own they move on," he said.

Johnson said that they were investigating the possibility of building a model school, open to all, regardless of race, creed or color.

City schools eye new W'land plant

A bond issue to finance building a new elementary school at Waveland and what to do about meeting the Department of Health, Education and Welfare requirements on integration were highlights of Monday night's meeting of the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District trustees.

At a meeting with HEW field representatives last month, trustees set 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, May 15, for a special meeting to try to adopt a plan suitable to the government agency which claims the present freedom of choice plan is not working.

On the Waveland's school, trustees Paul Henley said residents there wanted the same education benefits as Bay St. Louis. McCullough's recommendation was a $300,000 or $350,000 bond issue to finance a new elementary school on the 11 acres of land bought for that purpose some years ago. It is on St. Joseph Street near the Old Spanish Trail in the northern section of Waveland.

Opinion was divided as to whether such a bond issue would pass a district referendum and it was agreed the first step should be to feel out officials of both Waveland and Bay St. Louis. Such a meeting is to be arranged, preferably after the school term, McCullough also mentioned that about $80,000 in available Education Finance Commission funds and more would probably be accumulated by the time a Waveland building program was launched. He figured that at least eight classrooms would be necessary in the new school with more rooms, also, office space, rest rooms, library, cafeteria, band and music rooms and storage space. He also called for more cafeteria space at Bay Junior High which he said could be included in the bond issue.

Trustees discussed the $1,000 yearly teachers pay raise recently approved by the state legislature but agreed nothing could be done here or anywhere else until money is appropriated.

Six additional teachers were recommended by McCullough and approved by trustees; Irene McCarty and Kinta Kerley, both for the first grade at North Bay; Ann Welsh, second grade, North Bay; Sue Sonier, fourth grade, North Bay, and Mary Lowry, English, Bay Junior High.

McCullough also pointed out that Bay High, on recommendation of representatives who had inspected the school, had been classified AA by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools. "The school is now rated among the best in Mississippi," he said.

2 go back, street tag now 65-21

Two more cars went back on the city's paving list this week as more protests were collected to remove their names from petitions objecting to frontage assessment for the work.

Commissioner of Utilities J. Cyril Glover said a petition to remove 10 names on Clidena Street, received Wednesday, opens the way for paving it between Beach and Old Spanish Trail. Of 39 residents on the street, protests remain from 26 which is not 50 per cent.

Several days ago enough residents of North Second Street between U.S. 90 and Beach crossed their protests to put that strip back on the list.

One name has been removed from the Leonhard Avenue project but seven more must come off before it can be cleared, Glover reported.

Supervisors get 10 days in beat suit

U.S. District Judge W. Harold Cox sustained Monday a motion for the incumbent board of supervisors to show cause why they should not redistrict Hancock County under the one man, one vote doctrine and gave them 10 days in which to answer.

Upton Sisson, attorney for the plaintiffs, had prepared the order which Judge Cox signed yesterday. The 10 days began at that time.

Sitting at the court session in Biloxi, the judge wondered why the federal court should still have jurisdiction in the case since the U.S. Supreme Court ruled last month that the one man, one vote formula applies at the local governmental level. The de-

County cancels pupils to Bay

The county school system intends to absorb all its students in the 1968-69 school year, trustees voted Friday.

One hundred and thirty-four county pupils are attending the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District on tuition basis this year.

In a motion by Lugio Nacolas, seconded by Lamar Lee, trustees said Hancock County pupils attending the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District for 1967-68 term will be transferred to the county school system for 1968-69, as follows:

Students of the 10th, 11th and 12th grades will all be transferred to Hancock North Central High School and a temporary ninth grade will be established at Gulfview School for pupils of the Charles B. Murphy Elementary School in Pearllington and Gulfview.

The resolution stated the action is necessary for the system to remain in compliance with Health, Education and Welfare Department requirements.

Concern has been expressed by trustees in recent weeks over the fact that HEW has ruled the Bay system in violation of its requirements and subject to loss of federal funds.

The county system, by continuing to send its students to the Bay, could also financially assist in violation and thus lose its federal aid. Trustees considered this to be beyond their means to replace from other sources.

Superintendent Robert Clapp from North Central said he had checked the mileage and no student would have to travel more than 32 miles one way.

Trustees agreed they would release any student wishing to remain in the Bay system providing he pays his own tuition and arranges for transportation.

Switching to their other topic of the recessed session trustees decided to proceed with the Hancock North Central roofing project if the supervisors would permit them to borrow a further $25,000 from the bond sinking fund.

To the $25,000 will be added $12,221 received this week from the federal government and $5,000 already in the building fund.

Base price of the North Central job is $36,372. The balance of the money will be used for the roofing project now underway at Gulfview.

The $12,221 in federal funds to be paid in lieu of taxes on properties now in the historic zone of Mississippi Town Facility, and $9,021 for children of formerly connected employees.

The motion on the roof job came after trustees considered whether or not the project could be postponed a year.

Clapp responded that increased damage to interior roofing, furniture, books and Airport...

City then through congested traffic from the Missouri International Airport.

The airport is under jurisdiction of the port and harbor commission, whose actions are subject to sanction by the city. The airport is the $746,518 contract for the first phase of work, which provides a 4,500-foot runway, and W.B. Packer can represent the firm at the ceremony.

Dye emphasized the relationship between education, vocational training and contracting industry to Mississippi. This state is probably as well equipped to handle industry as any in the nation, he declared, but she frequently finds herself on the queen in Alice in Wonderland—always running on a moving track trying to keep up.

"You in Hancock County have shaken hands with the future in recognizing that industry has 'poured wings' and now considers adequate airport facilities a major factor in the location of plants and businesses," Dye declared.

He said the aviation industry looks forward to development of super-cargo airports in strategic locations throughout the nation from which "super-conic air freighters would fly to any part of the world in a matter of hours."

Donald H. Landry, port commission president, gave the welcome and the Hancock North Central School band, directed by R.J. Vermilyea, played the national anthem. Invocation was by Rev. William V. Vaughan of St. Hilario Memorial Baptist Church at Kiln. Rev. Bernard McDonald, pastor of St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Pearllington, gave the benediction.

Luther Matthews represented the Federal Aviation Administration which is putting up $476,650 of the airport construction money. Seal recognized the numerous dignitaries seated on the speakers' stand and complimented Mrs. Wayne Ducomb who coordinated the day's events.

The port commission was host at a luncheon before the ceremony at Club Lodge attended by elected county officials and other guests. At that time Jackson M. Balch, manager of NASA's Mississippi Test Facility, complimented the county on its progressive efforts in recent years.

GRATEFULLY, WO!
The Sideline Club

The merry, merry month of May is just about full of all sorts of specially proclaimed days and weeks. Even though Americans marching have taken the place of small groups of girls dancing around a bonfire, the poles the first day of the month, that date has been proclaimed National Law Day in the United States. We have Armed Forces Day on May 10, National Maritime Day on May 12, and of course May 20 is Memorial Day. But did you know that May 12-18 is Hospital Week, National Police Week, National Transportation Week, National Coast Week and National Salvation Army Week?

Let's celebrate

This month gives us the loving friends something to celebrate just about every day, but we're really looking up to celebrating that a special phenomenon is worthy of at least a small celebration. It would be called The Day the Gals Go Away, and on coming important events come to be happening on May 8, it would be called the "TWO DAY" Day. As there are already a number of parties, this occasion could be the impetus for large numbers of love parties, barbeques, beach parties and the like—just think what a novelty this would be for far friends, although if they've never been played by this dramatic 12th month, they wouldn't understand the joy of going out-of-door and enjoy the new (and old) atmosphere. Don't really know why we're trying to stir up any more activity as there's quite enough going on in the area along about this time of year.

Sullivan is substitute

The long awaited and much prepared for airport ground-breaking ceremony almost came a cropper when Gov. John Bell Williams called the day before he was due to appear as guest of honor, saying he'd been called to Washington and could be unable to fly in for the day. Lt. Gov. Charlie Sullivan proved again that he's a real good guy and arrived to find a warm welcome from his Hancock County admirers. The full report will appear elsewhere as we either had a choice of being on hand, or getting a couple of columns underway and decided we'd best remain at the typewriter.

A copy reports that the Bay-Waveland Garden Club girls had a swinging time at last Thursday's meeting which was combined with annual installation of new officers. "Entertainment Ethel" (Mrs. Clarence) Evans took over the gavel from "Vigorous Vigorito", Pat that is, in just such a manner of speaking.

Home ec skills on display

Junika (Mrs. J.E.) Ervin and her second year homemaker friends outside themselves in preparing a really gourmet dinner for Bay Municipal School District principals, city and school officials. The tables were beautifully set with spring floral arrangements down the center and a spectacular large arrangement on the large table from which the buffet was served. The fare consisted of boiled shrimp, broiled and frozen fruit salad, ham, turkey, yams with marshmallows, tiny English peas, a very fancy green bean casserole, spaghetti, broccoli, hot homemade rolls, tea, coffee and homemade ice cream and strawberries with homemade sauce. On hand for the feast were Hazzard Mayor John and Alice Seaford, Edith and Warren Traub, Margie Glavin, Cyril having remained at home as he was suffering from a bronchial infection, Sam and Pat Favro, Nancy and Howard Adams and Frank Whack who was also under the weather. Also Bob Hamilton, Paul Hensley, the two McCulloughs, Donald Caldwell, Robert Maggo, Beverly and Frank Leane and the youngest member of the board, Bill Beahm and his pretty wife Nelson. Of course, we had a few "forgetting" comedies, but at least we're trying!

Bouquets

Just when we were about to register a groan about that poor woman on North Beach near U. S. 90, we noted that it had been eagerly registered, as indeed we'll have to top a bouquet instead of being a bouquet. Let's hope to see her in the "Mother's Day" gift from Bay, a baby blue lawn move of all her very own, that she immediately gave to her reporter for having her married to sister Jane's husband Murray in last week's column.

Good coffee

We may not always be in agreement with political views of our Republican buddies — in fact we almost never are — but we'll have to hand it to them, when these gals took a coffee, it's well brewed. The lovely North Beach home of Ann (Mrs. W.J.) Beckton was the setting for their gathering Friday night. We didn't know about Raulo or Diet as we became introduced in an animated and agreeable manner with the most attractive ladies, but noted Virginia (Mrs. Fred) Wagner's smiling rod, white and blue shirt which matched the Uncle Sam hat, carrying a container for bouquets of bright blossoms. There was an abundance of food which tasted just as good as it looked, but for some reason the coffee appeared to have the most appeal for guests including Fulk (Mrs. Doug) Keger who kept the register and placed small elephant shaped name tags on everyone who entered. Eleanor (Mrs. John) Hill, Mrs. Hunter Kimbrough, Georgia Raco Williams, Laura (Mrs. Dave) Polonsky, Boush (Mrs. Fred) Phillips, and a number of others who we met for the first time and whose names are at the moment. So outstanding was their outdone that Bay High Band members played on for an additional 30-odd minutes after their closing concert formally ended Friday night. Just a few more in the junior high gym were Mrs. May and John McDonald, Ann and Ed Porter and his mother, Mrs. P.E. Porter, the Steve Hastings, Morice and Michael Latham, Mac and Charles Lister, Pete Chapman, Laneo Lumpkin, Dot and Harold

Man of year

Basil Kennedy of Waveland, right, was honored as Man of Year recently at the District 11 Conclave of Kappa Sigma social fraternity at University of Mississippi. Kennedy, who is grand treasurer of the fraternity, received award from Jack Saddle of Vicksburg, Kappa Sigma grand master.

Blackledge, Misses Julia Blain and Alma Parlor, Frances and Vic Franchot, Ann Wheeler, Hazel and Richard Tracey, Bobbie and Vernon McCullough, Alice and Jon Brammory, Dot (Mrs. Manny) Hubbard, Bob Hubbard, Helen (Mrs. Borne) Plazan, Frances Fawcett, Mrs. Gene Burto, Emily (Mrs. Walter) Rausch, Mae Boyer and her daughter Betty (Mrs. Peter) Benvenuti, Charles Poolton, Eula and Jimmy Stephens and many, many more.

Silver Star

A Vietnam war hero, the recipient of a Silver Star, served much more than a mere column mention but we'll pass on the news that Robert Walke, son of Junika Walke of 101 Julia St., was so honored. Elvira (Mrs. Garry) Ross looks like a model since she shed numerous pounds before, during and after her recent gall bladder surgery. Boy native Harry Klein, now famed writer of the New Orleans States-Born fishing column graced the coast with his presence over the weekend. Shirley Dugley welcomed in the Christmas City, taking advantage of an important date and celebration.

So might have come to the conclusion that elections were in the offing instead of bloodily long three years away judging by all the Smiths who were in town Saturday. State Senator Martin Smith was smiling just as nicely as he did last summer when greeting constituents and our Lennie was especially deep discussion with each local neighbor as Amos Korgeston,

Our dauntless deputy K-19, George Rayburn, is putting all of his law officer's training to good use. He learned his medical lessons so well that he performed like a veteran when an emergency arose in the jail last week. He is now called O.B. by fellow lawmen.

More Puppies
 Ruth and W.C. Frieron's lovely miniature collie, Mica, presented them with a litter of six. All look very much like their mama; one has been promised but the others are up for grabs. They've been eating for almost a week now, so are just ripe for adoption. The Frierons' phone number is 467-5117.

Cat is coming
 Potential Little Theater goers are eagerly anticipating opening night and from what we hear, Cat on a Hot Tin Roof is going to be one of the most successful plays ever. Those who have seen the indoor, and out door sets, designed by talented Deedee Smith and executed by her capable husband, Cal, say that they're the most spectacular yet.

Our Angie (Mrs. Jake) Morreale once again makes headlines the hard way. She recently spent a week in the hospital after suffering a severe nosebleed at her de Montuzin Street home.

Burt Taylor appears to have lost his appetite - perhaps he'll regain his interest in food after

Miss Andrews. Mr. Overman wed in West

Miss Patricia Louise Andrews, daughter of Mrs. Julian H. Lorenzen of Bay St. Louis, and the late Lucius Clayton Andrews, and Irving Dean Overman, son of Mrs. Gene Wolfe of Lakewood, Colo., and Wilbur Overman of Sedalia, Colo., were married in Lakewood, March 26.

The bride attended Holy Name High School and was graduated from Fortier High, New Orleans, and the University of Southern Mississippi, Hattiesburg.

Mr. Overman is a magna cum laude graduate of the University of Colorado and is a member of Phi Beta Kappa. The couple is residing in Palo Alto, Calif., where he is working towards his doctorate of philosophy at Stanford University.

Grateful Shoreline Park residents report they're sleeping much more soundly now that Roland's Raiders, under supervision of Roland Tallac, have reduced break-in in their area by exactly 100 per cent.

Jimmy Lagasse, general chairman of those great St. Clare's Parish Hall dances, has asked us to explain that in order to maintain the standard of hiring only really good bands, donation will now be $5. per couple. Boyd Hunt and the Dimensions in Sound will play for the next six Saturday. And remember ice is still furnished at no additional charge.

One final animal bit. Walter Crawley reports a male German shepherd puppy wandering around on Mollere Drive on Monday. If anyone has lost such an animal, it was last seen visiting Linda and Tommy Kidd, and is probably still in that vicinity.

SIGHTS AND SOUNDS ALONG THE WAY - A large group of visiting school girls walking sedately along the beach in the wake of a nun attired in a white veil with a bright red and white checked apron-type over skirt; the golden sea of black-eyed susans beside the railroad tracks; hordes of weekend berry pickers in the same location and the excited sound of their voices as they come upon clumps of vine bearing dark, ripe fruit.

At Blue Room

Bill Johnson took his lovely wife Shell to the Blue Room on the occasion of their 29th wedding anniversary Monday, May 13. We'll add that it was the 'Blue Room' or Annie's where they had just as good, and much closer to home.

Vivian Simms was most elated to receive two grand-mother's cards on Mother's Day. One was from grandson Bobby Carling who is studying for the priesthood in Atlanta and the other from his sister, Linda, who is preparing to take her vows as a nun.

I live in Biloxi and had been thinking about buying a new car. When I decided I was ready to buy, I stopped on a Gerry Lane Chevrolet in Bay St. Louis and talked with Joe Palazzo. He gave me the price and told me he could deliver then and there. I told him I wanted to shop around before making my mind. After spending three days going from dealership to dealership, I returned to Gerry Lane Chevrolet and placed my order with Joe Palazzo. I realize now that I was only wasting time and money shopping around.

I highly recommend that my friends go to Joe Palazzo's Gerry Lane Chevrolet when interested in a new car.

I live across the street from Fay and Gerry Lane, and after shopping dealers in the Gulfport area, decided I should at least give my neighbor's dealership a try. Joe Crawford showed me everything in the place and the only car I wanted just happened to be Gerry's own Caprice, which Fay happened to be using that day. Joe and I tracked her down at Club Lodge Beauty Salon, in the car, leaving her on foot. Luckily 'Polly Peers' came along about that time, picked up hitchhiking Fay and took her home in her antiquated Chevrolet, proving that no matter what model Chevrolet you own, it can always be depended upon for transportation.

Deflated Dollar

Along with the War in Vietnam and the War on Poverty at home, there is also the War on the Dollar in world markets.

Washington authorities warn of inflation, which is the result of deflated dollars, the decrease in the purchasing value of our money.

We already have inflation, the erosion of the dollar has been going on for some time. The dollar that was worth $1.00 in purchasing power in 1939, was worth 58.3 cents in 1949, worth 47.6 cents in 1959, and is now worth only 41.7 cents.

American savers have approximately one trillion dollars invested, divided among bank savings, life insurance and securities like stocks and bonds. This trillion dollars in one year has shrunk in purchasing power about 2.7 percent. In other words, it is worth $27 billion dollars less in purchasing value than it was in 1967. If the average net yield on this trillion dollars were three percent, the American investor was barely breaking even.

A deflated dollar, resulting in an inflated economy, is largely caused by a mismanaged currency, unbalanced federal budgets and deficit spending. An extravagant government suffers the same consequences as the individual who spends beyond his means. Carried to extremes, this leads to bankruptcy and liquidation.

In defending the dollar from attack in London, Paris and other foreign markets, it is essential we should protect it here at home. A people and their government should live within their means, balance their budgets, and protect the purchasing power of their money. They owe that to their children.

Only by spending less and producing more can we hope to enjoy a continued prosperity as the world's richest nation. The United States reached its position of power and influence by maintaining its solvency. "As sound as a dollar" was much more than a financial slogan. In every corner of the globe it stood for the security, integrity and solvency of a people with a reputation for their financial stability and reliability.

Picture is Mr. Allie Holley of Gulfport taking delivery of his '66 Fleetside pick-up from salesman Joe Palazzo at Gerry Lane Chevrolet, Inc.

I had been shopping for a new pick-up truck for several days. I happened to meet Joe Palazzo in town and asked him if it would be worth my time to drop in at Gerry Lane's. Joe suggested that I come by the next morning which I did.

Arriving at Gerry Lane Chevrolet, I told Joe Palazzo exactly what I wanted and 30 minutes later I had signed for delivery of my new truck.

Through the courtesy of Joe Palazzo, I was contacted by Gerry Lane and all of his employees. I would sincerely recommend that they contact Joe Palazzo before buying a new truck or car.
